YEAR IN REVIEW: BRIDGE PROJECTS & A SUPERSTORM

The very first structure ever built in the Monmouth County Park System was a trail bridge (right). That was during the early 1960s in the county's first park at Shark River. Today, bridges like these, along with other water crossings, connect visitors to the most popular features in the parks.

In 2012, the Park System completed nearly a dozen bridge and boardwalk projects. Starting in early spring, a large and long-awaited trail crossing of Marlu Lake in Thompson Park (cover photo) opened, followed by a variety of smaller bridge and boardwalk projects mostly at quiet, deeply wooded sites during summer and fall.

Then came Superstorm Sandy on October 29 with damage to many shore properties, including the parks. The year ended with an extensive tree clean-up effort and repairs to buildings, piers, docks and of course, trail bridges (especially along the Henry Hudson Trail). Unfortunately for many of our neighbors, property damage was accompanied by heartbreaking disruption as families were uprooted from their homes or left without access to basic necessities.

To assist during the storm's aftermath, park staff began building a different kind of bridge, one that connected the outpouring of support from around the state and country directly to the hardest hit individuals and neighborhoods in Monmouth County. The Central Supply facility at Thompson Park was converted into a county relief distribution center for emergency supplies and operated through the end of the year.

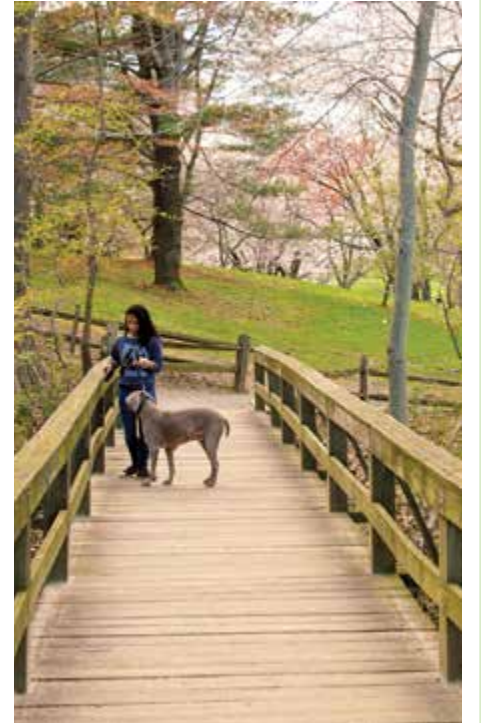

The first trail bridge, built in the early 1960s and likely repaired a few times since then, features carved tree trunks as support beams.

The Emergency Relief Supply Center at Thompson Park operated daily for two months, processing more than 2,403 individual donations large and small for delivery to 62 sites in Monmouth County that were hardest hit by Sandy.

THE PARKS IN 2012: IMPROVEMENTS

Bridge Construction & Repair

As a coastal county with plenty of water, the 132 miles of trails in the Monmouth County parks now include 154 bridges and boardwalks so visitors can cross the many creeks, brooks and other wet areas.

One of two new bridges on Thompson Park's 4.2 mile paved trail: the winding, 550 ft. Marlu Bridge (also pictured on the front cover).

The other bridge crosses water that flows from Thompson Park under Route 520.

A new bridge-boardwalk combination crosses the Hidden Creek Trail at Shark River Park.

The Claypit Creek Section of Hartshorne Woods Park added a separate bridge and boardwalk for its new 0.7 mile connection to trails in the main park.

Improving Trail Access

Recent trail improvements feature grade and surface modifications for better accessibility, as well as trail connectors to create longer, uninterrupted opportunities for recreation.

This 0.9 mile, newly-resurfaced extension trail at Big Brook Park connects to the Henry Hudson Trail.

Dorbrook's paved trail meets new accessibility standards for slope.

New Facilities

Parks offer a naturally beautiful setting for weddings, family picnics and even formal meetings. In 2012, the Park System continued expanding its list of rental sites.

New picnic tents were installed at Seven Presidents Oceanfront Park (pictured).

A new picnic shelter was constructed at Thompson Park.

Keeping the Greens Beautiful...

Restoring bunkers and dredging ponds are just two improvement projects that contributed to a more enjoyable golf experience at Hominy Hill Golf Course.

Hominy Hill Golf Course restored 38 of 135 bunkers and dredged the pond on its signature 11th hole.

Stabilizing Dunes to Protect the Shore

The Park System commonly builds sand dunes stabilized by beach grass and snow fencing to help protect vulnerable beachfront, but 2012 was the first time a 'concrete mat' for shoreline enforcement was added.

This dune stabilizing 'concrete mat' at Bayshore Waterfront Park proved its worth during Superstorm Sandy.

...And, Keeping the Beautiful Green

The Park System completed its fifth solar panel installation in 2012, all of which have been paid for in whole or part with federal/state funding.

Maintenance Building at East Freehold Showgrounds, site of the annual Monmouth County Fair.

Site Preparations & Demolition

Removing old buildings, structures, and tanks and sealing underground wells throughout the parks is an ongoing operation, especially as added property is acquired.

Old buildings at the former Marlboro Airport were demolished to make way for Deep Run Recreation Area.

An old caretaker residence at Claypit Creek is cleared.

Superstorm Sandy Repairs

Major tree removal efforts were underway throughout the parks and golf courses by year's end, along with repair activity at the following sites: Seven Presidents Oceanfront Park (restrooms and boardwalks, dune restoration); Monmouth Cove Marina (docks, pilings and building); and the Atlantic Highlands section of the Henry Hudson Trail (multiple bridges and trail surface).

THE PARKS IN 2012: ACCOMPLISHMENTS

New Golf Programs & Activities

The Park System expanded efforts to introduce the public to the game of golf, and continued pricing incentives with new Full Privilege Cards, Super Twilight Rates, and Teen/Child specials.

The new Ladies Players Club at Pine Brook Golf Course was a hit.

Two new golf activities were added in 2012: a mini course and hitting net.

Website Redesign, a New Blog & Trails 'App'

The Park System website was redesigned in 2012 to improve access to more than 5,000 revenue-generating programs, and also a new blog was added along with a trail map application for smartphone users.

The homepage on www.monmouthcountyparks.com is now easier to navigate.

Awards & Accolades

The Park System was pleased to receive an important professional recognition in 2012 from the NJ Recreation and Park Association, added another site to the National Register of Historic Places, and received popularity votes from magazine readers.

Not yet open to the general public, the property known as Portland Place was added to the National Register of Historic Places.

Tony's Place Playground at Seven Presidents Oceanfront Park received an Excellence in Design Award.

NJ Monthly Magazine readers again selected Hominy Hill Golf Course as the best public golf course and Deep Cut Gardens as a runner up for the best public gardens. The Manasquan Reservoir (pictured) was selected by Bassmaster Magazine among the top 100 places for bass fishing in the U.S. Staff of The Star Ledger's Inside Jersey magazine selected Hominy Hill among the '10 Best Golf Courses for the Money' in 2012.

Park System Firsts

Always on the lookout for new ways for visitors to experience the parks, staff offered the following program, activity and event firsts in 2012.

An "Under the Stars" program theme allowed many visitors to experience the parks for the first time after dusk, such as a night hike departing from a beautifully lit Thompson Park Visitor Center.

Sunnyside Equestrian Center held its first Open House with all its facilities open in 2012.

Revenue Generators: More Site Rentals

The Park System continued to expand rental opportunities for family and group gatherings in the parks. The Holmdel Park Shelter Building is now rentable and new room rentals were added at three sites. In 2012, the parks also hosted 23 wedding ceremonies (mostly on the beach at Seven Presidents), 86 wedding photo shoots (mostly at Deep Cut Gardens), and 11 commercial media shoots.

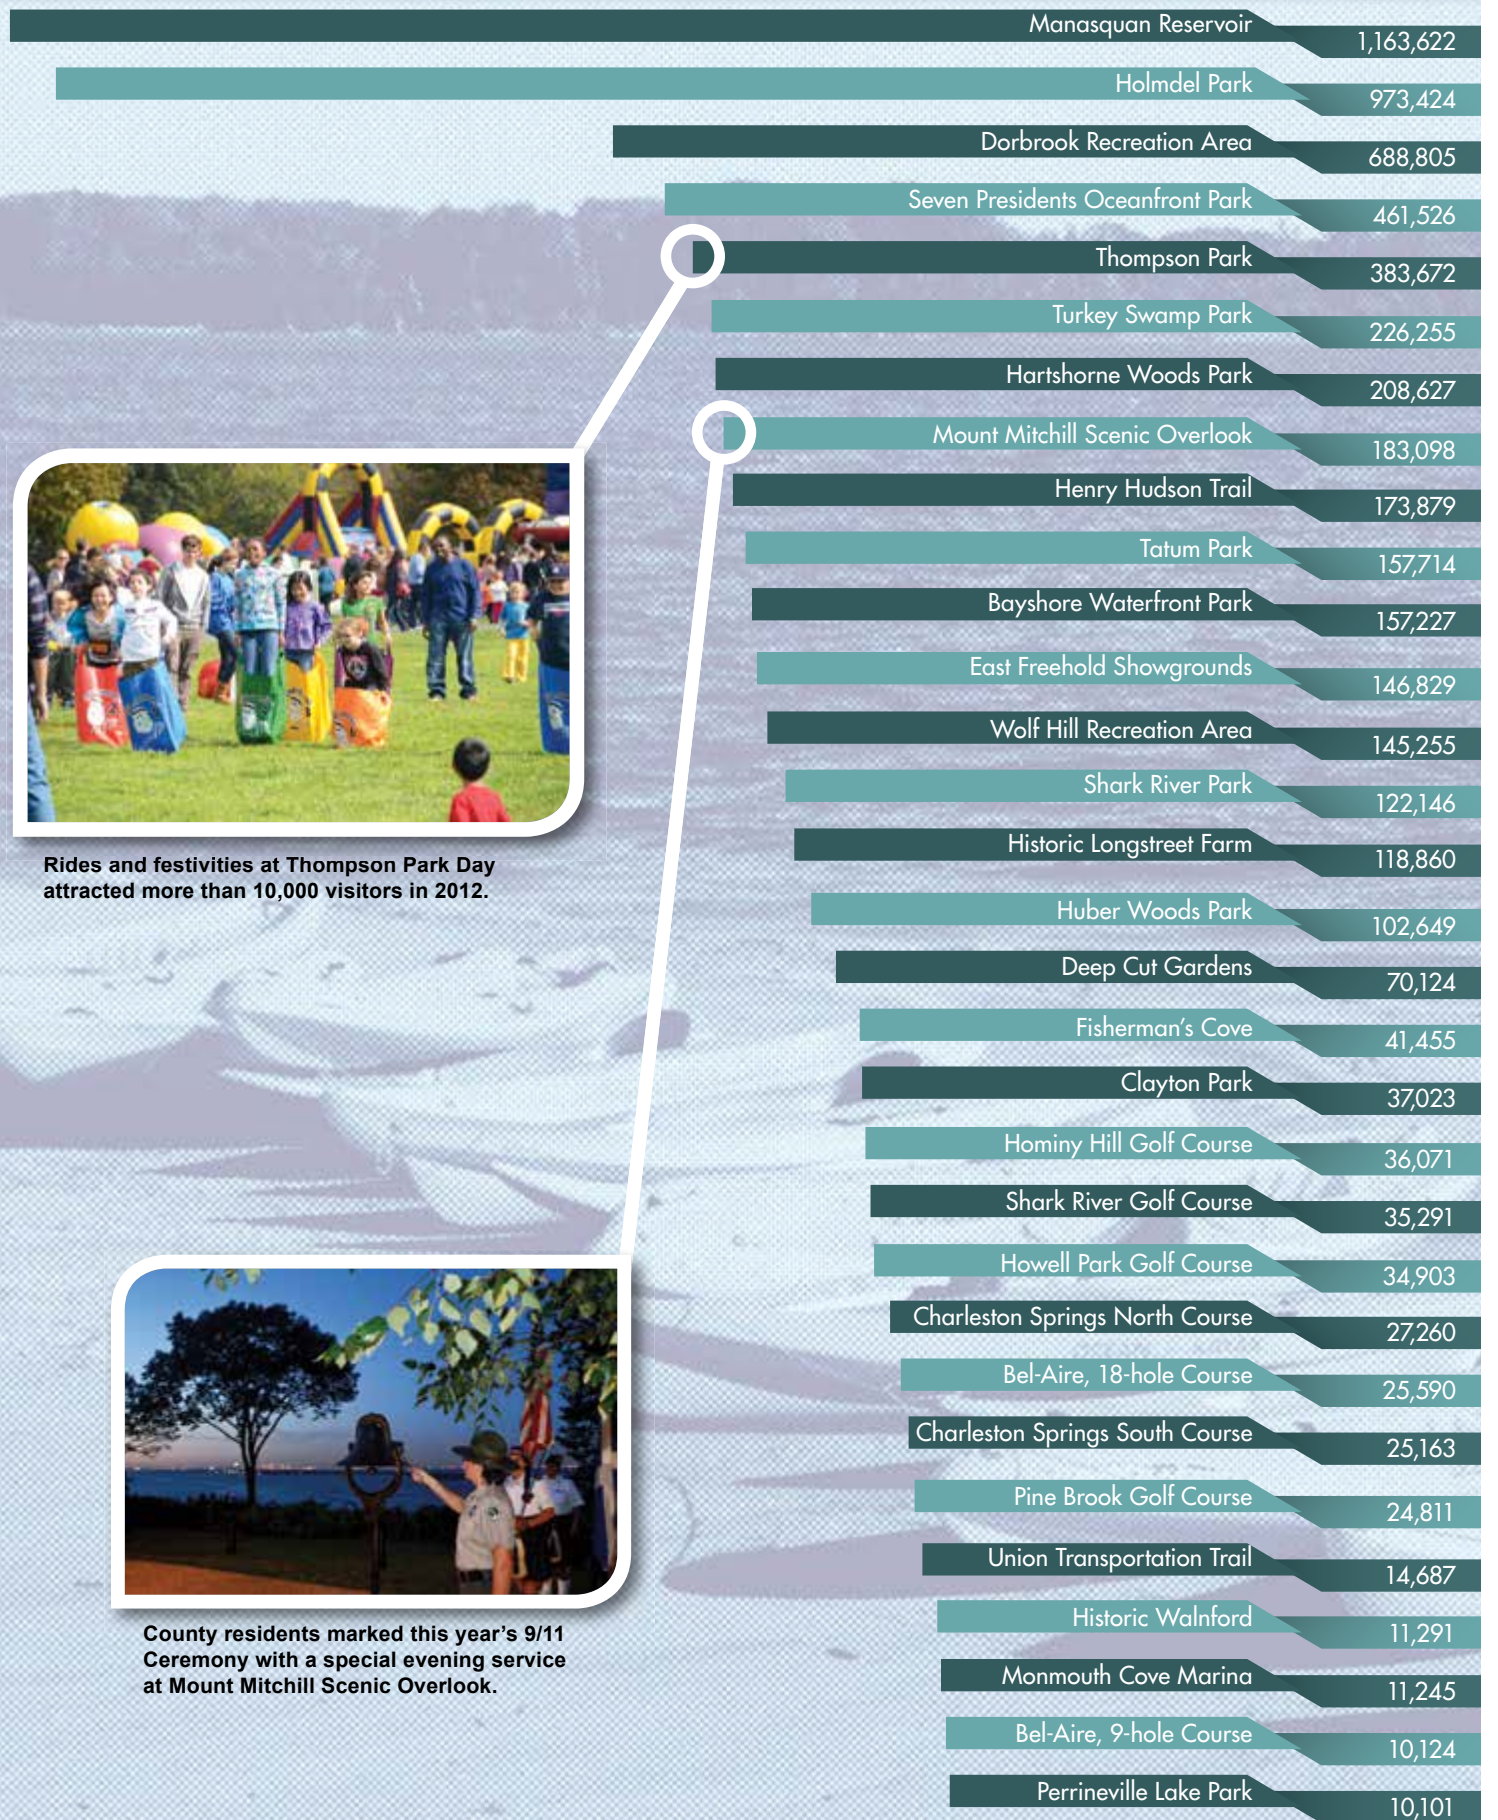

New room rentals added in 2012 include sites at Historic Walnford (Open Hearth Kitchen pictured), Manasquan Reservoir, and Tatum Park.

5,828,727: TOTAL PARK VISITS IN 2012*

Rides and festivities at Thompson Park Day attracted more than 10,000 visitors in 2012.

County residents marked this year's 9/11 Ceremony with a special evening service at Mount Mitchill Scenic Overlook.

THE PARKS IN 2012: PARTNERS

In 2012, 1,628 volunteers contributed over 27,000 hours of service to the Park System. In addition to performing the day-to-day activities needed to help us operate, volunteers made a significant contribution to our recovery efforts from Superstorm Sandy. We are grateful to the volunteers who assisted with our Relief Center, helped clean up our beach and waterfront sites, and completed detailed Damage Assessment reports for trails at 10 different park sites.

Since its 1977 inception, the MCF has helped preserve more than 6,500 acres of open space and farmland in Monmouth County. In 2012, the MCF helped the Park System, along with other state and local partners, complete one of the county's largest and most complicated land transactions by preserving the former Princeton Nurseries. MCF also assisted with acquisition of the 55-acre Sacco Trust property. Both are additions to the Crosswicks Creek Greenway.

Special People United to Ride (SPUR) is a non-profit charitable organization that funds therapeutic horseback riding programs for adults and children with neurological impairment, cerebral palsy, MS and other special needs. In addition to building a beautiful facility, SPUR helps pay for staff training, the purchase of horses and in 2012 SPUR funded 96 students scholarships.
