The Monmouth County Fire Academy will be offering:

Advanced Building Construction
(8 hrs)

All strategic decisions and tactical operations are based on building construction, specifically the paths the building gives to fire spread and the ways in which the fire pulls apart the building. This course will focus on building construction issues that firefighters must be aware of to operate more safely and effectively in the buildings they are entering. Discussed will be fire spread concerns inherent to the five types of building construction as well as structural deficiencies that all Officers and firefighters must be aware of. Strategies outlining how to address these buildings and their idiosyncrasies will be a further focus point, offering solutions to address the concerns discussed. This is a valuable course for any rank from the firefighter to the Chief of Department.
